Special Offer Brings PcHunter to Search Professionals Who Have Outgrown an ACT! Database

Micro J Systems Inc. Targets Recruiters Who Use ACT! Unbeatable Price Includes Data Conversion to PcHunter Format.

SANTA MONICA, California (June 3, 2002) Whether you call it Recruiting Automation Software, a Recruiting Management System, or an ATS, there is a tremendous difference between contact management programs such as ACT! and a true suite of software tools made for the Search and Recruiting industries. Micro J Systems, Inc. is inviting Search and Recruitment professionals who currently use ACT! to check out the difference first-hand in an online software demonstration showing the innovative features that have continued to make Micro J an industry leader in staffing automation for over 15 years.

The new ACT! competitive-upgrade offer is a unique package from Micro J that includes the PcHunter software, toll-free support, and a data-conversion from ACT! to PcHunter for a complete package. No hidden costs or extra add-ons. The price tag on this set-up for a single user is an unbeatable $1995.00!

"The folks at Micro J created this package to fill the recruiting industry need for an all-inclusive ACT! change out. There are a lot of ACT! based recruiters out there who are being left behind in this age of automation because they continue to try and bend their general contact management database to the recruiting business. If they would each take thirty minutes to evaluate what PcHunter can do for them, and look at what the ACT! package includes, I am sure that 100% of the time they would choose to upgrade their system to PcHunter." – States a newly 'ACT! converted' customer.

Other ATS software vendors offer confusing a la carte price lists. Often a recruitment firm can end up paying from twelve to twenty five thousand or more on software alone to get started on a new system. Other recruiting and staffing software vendors quote exorbitant consulting fees for implementation help. For instance an average ACT! data-conversion was vaguely estimated at "under three thousand dollars" and requiring 4-6 weeks to complete by one popular ATS vendor! In sharp contrast Micro J's competitive ACT! conversion package is all-inclusive, and the database conversion is a standard two to three business-day turn around. After purchasing the PcHunter package recruiters work from a read-only copy of their existing ACT! data while the conversion is being completed, two to three days later the converted data is delivered, ready to use within the framework of the PcHunter environment.

To receive the ACT! Competitive Upgrade package new prospects must send in a photocopy of their ACT! manual cover, CD or sales receipt.

The only thing recommended for purchase along with the ACT! competitive upgrade is the PcHunter Quick Start Program, a special bundle of training plus guided implementation consulting by a qualified Micro J technician for just $400.00.
