Micro J Releases Version 8.6 Update for Tempus and PcHunter

Pasadena, California (July 18, 2006), Micro J is now distributing version 8.6, the most current Micro J software release for Tempus and PcHunter users. The latest version includes a number of new features to make it easier for users to manage their e-marketing efforts through PcHunter and Tempus Fugit. This release is available online to support plan subscribers by download only.

Micro J simultaneously released two optional downloads for customers to add new functionality as desired. First a new tool called the Record Ownership Change Utility that easily reassigns record ownership in batches. You can now take out former employee's initials and re-assign the records to a new employee. Once records are updated, you can more easily get a snap shot report of any recruiter's candidate pool, client list, or daily productivity. Second, HTML Job Order Templates offered online for use in PcHunter or Tempus Fugit to publish colorful customized job descriptions online or to send in email.

Micro J customers can go to the secure MPPOnline support site and download the new templates and follow the directions shown in the free animated tutorial to store the template in your Micro J software files. Customize the look and feel to match your web site, add your logo and post them online or use the templates to publish HTML email marketing material to recruit candidates.
